Say What You Would Do in This Situation

Express Opinion | OREO | Choose & Defend

Name: _____ Date: _____

SLIDE 02 Today's goal

By the end of this lesson, I can:

Say what you would do in a difficult situation, support it with one reason and one example, and answer a concern about your choice politely.

|---|---|
| WHO | You work in a small company in Johor Bahru. Siti from HR is writing a short guide for new staff called "What would you do?" |
| SITUATION | At Thursday's 4 p.m. staff session, Siti reads a case: at the monthly meeting, with eight people in the room, a colleague shows Mr. Tan your idea, a new price list, as his own. You emailed the idea to this colleague on Monday. |
| NEED | Siti wants a clear answer from each person: what you would do, and why. Mr. Tan is at the session too, and he has a concern about your answer. |
| GOAL | Say what you would do, give one reason and one example, and answer Mr. Tan's concern politely without giving up your view. |

SLIDE 03 Try it first

Siti asks: "Here's our first case. At the monthly meeting, a colleague shows Mr. Tan your idea as his own. What would you do?" Say something for 30 seconds. Then note what you said.

SLIDE 04 A good message

Kumar's answer. Mark where each part starts.

Honestly, I think I would talk to my colleague in private first, not in the meeting. The main reason is that a quiet talk usually fixes the problem. For example, I'd show him my email from Monday with the price list in it. That takes five minutes at his desk, not in front of eight people. So I know some people would go to Mr. Tan straight away, but I'd still talk to him first.

O OPINION

R REASON

E EXAMPLE

O OPINION AGAIN

SLIDE 05 Organise it

Mei Ling answers a different case: a customer says he paid twice, but he didn't. Order: O → R → E → O.

- [ ] For instance, our record shows one payment of RM450 on 3 June, not two. I'd send him a copy while we talk.
- [ ] That's why I'd check the facts with him first, and not argue.
- [ ] This is because an angry customer usually calms down when he sees the facts.
- [ ] In my view, I would stay calm and check his account with him on the phone.

Write the letter: O = Opinion · R = Reason · E = Example · O = Opinion again

Choose & Defend

Choose one of the two actions on your card and say why. Your listener writes your choice, reason and example, then gives one concern. You answer it.

1. Round 1 (3:00 each): say your card number and the case in one sentence. Then O → R → E (a fact from your card) → O.
2. Listener: fill in the note. A line empty? Ask for it. Then one concern. Speaker: acknowledge, answer in 1–2 sentences.
3. Swap roles. Then line B moves one seat. Round 2 (2:00 each): same card, same choice, new partner, shorter.
4. Line B moves again. Round 3 (1:00 each), frames closed: speakers turn the workbook over. Say your choice once more.

SLIDE 12 Respond

Mr. Tan asks. Write a short answer to one of these.

2. Won't that make things difficult in your team?
3. Why not wait and see if it happens again?
