Recommend a Way to Learn a Skill

Recommend | OREO | Client Role-play

Name: _____ Date: _____

SLIDE 02 Today's goal

By the end of this lesson, I can:

Ask a friend about their time, money and way of learning, drop one of three ways to learn, and recommend one with a reason that fits them.

WHO Siti from HR is your friend. She wants to learn to bake Hari Raya cookies to sell to colleagues and neighbours. Hari Raya is in eight weeks.

SITUATION She has found three ways to learn: a baking class at a shop in town, a baking app with videos, and a home baker who teaches one-to-one. Their prices and times are in the boxes below.

NEED Siti works 9 to 6, Monday to Friday, so she is free on weekday evenings and Saturdays. She can spend about RM400. She is a beginner: she has never baked, and she wants someone to check her cookies.

GOAL Drop one way, recommend one of the other two, say why it fits Siti, and answer her questions.

Three ways to learn

- Baking class: RM350 for 4 Saturday mornings, starts this Saturday · 10 people · the teacher checks your cookies
- Baking app: RM30 a month · 50 short videos · any time · nobody checks your work
- Home baker: RM120 a lesson, 4 lessons (RM480) · one-to-one · weekday evenings

What Siti needs

- Free on weekday evenings and Saturdays
- About RM400 in total
- Never baked · wants someone to check her cookies
- Hari Raya is in 8 weeks

SLIDE 03

Try it first

Siti asks: “I want to learn to bake Hari Raya cookies. A class, an app or a home baker: which one should I choose?” Say something for 30 seconds. Then note what you said.

SLIDE 04

A good message

Mei Ling’s answer. Mark where each part starts.

The home baker is RM480, so it’s over your budget. You've never baked and you want someone to check, so I'd recommend the baking class. The main reason is the teacher: she checks everyone’s cookies in every class. And the class is on Saturday mornings, when you’re free. The app is cheaper, only RM30 a month, but if your cookies are too hard, nobody tells you why. The class is RM350, so it’s still under your RM400. So if you want someone to check your cookies, the class is the better choice. After four Saturdays, you still have four weeks to practise before Hari Raya.

SLIDE 05 Organise it

Ali recommends a way for Amy to learn to make short videos. Order: Recommend → Reason → Compare → Recommend again.

- [ ] The workshop in town is faster, only one day, but it's on a Saturday, when you coach.
- [ ] You're busy with clients all day, so I'd recommend the online course.
- [ ] The main reason is time: you can watch a lesson at night, after your last client.
- [ ] So if you want to learn in your own time, the online course is better. And if you get stuck, ask me!

Write the letter: O = Drop one · recommend · R = Reason · E = Compare · example · O = Recommendation again

1. The baking class _____ RM350 for four Saturdays. (A fact about a way to learn now)
   ○ costs ○ to cost ○ costing

2. The app is _____ than the class. (Comparing two ways)
   ○ cheaper ○ more cheap ○ cheapest

SLIDE 09 Comparing · can · if

To recommend a way to learn, compare two ways with -er / more … than, say what each way lets you do with can, and add a condition with if.

The app is cheaper than the class, but nobody checks your work.

With the app, you can learn any time. In the class, the teacher can check your cookies.

If you want someone to check your cookies, the class is the better choice.

Client Role-play

The recommender asks the friend about their need, drops one of three ways to learn and recommends one of the other two. The friend writes a note: the questions asked, what was dropped, the choice and the reason.

1. Round 1 (3:00): say your card number and the three ways. Ask about the need. Drop one, then recommend one.
2. Friend: tell only what you are asked, fill the note, then ask 'Why not the …?' Recommender: answer in 1–2 sentences.
3. Round 2 (2:00): line B moves one seat. Same card, new friend. Check the need in one question, drop one, recommend.
4. Round 3 (1:00), frames closed, no asking: 'You need …, so …'. Workbook over, card only. Then swap roles and repeat.
